HART SHAW

Chartered Accountants & Business Advisers

Even profitable enterprises can run out of funds if they don't plan effectively, which is why regular cash flow reporting and planning are essential to any business.

At Hart Shaw, we support this process and provide you with a facility where you can outsource all work usually undertaken by an Accounts Department.

These services include:

- Purchase ledger
- Expenses
- Payroll
- Sales ledger
- Credit control
- Journals
- VAT returns
- Management Accounts
- Month Ends
- Sage and other bookkeeping software

How this will deliver value

Preparing Management Accounts takes time and effort, and therefore you need to be sure that this represents a good investment of resources. It is essential to know that they are going to add value to the business by helping the management team make well-informed decisions.

Deciding what to report

We can advise on the best methods of reporting and ways to break down income and expenditure to show you how your business is performing. This will help you to see the areas that are most profitable and spot any areas for improvement or inconsistencies which could cost you money.

Evolving Management Accounts

The key to good management accounting is supporting business development and answering any crucial questions. If you are asking the same questions over and over again, your reports should evolve to suit the needs of managers and incorporate the answers.

Hart Shaw is a leading independent firm of Chartered Accountants & Business Advisers.

Hart Shaw has been providing financial services to us for more than 30 years. We have a close and trusting relationship with them and know they can be relied upon to give professional advice on routine and day to day matters, whilst having personnel with the qualifications and expertise to provide solutions to more complex and strategic matters.
